

LORD KELVIN'S NAME.

The story of how the famous scientist, Sir William Thomson, assumed the name in the peerage by which he is now known all over the world is thus told by a journalist: "It was New Year's day when I called. The interview took place in his lordship's library in the corner building of the range of picturesque professional mansions on the eminence known as Gilmore Hill, around whose base winds a stream made classic in song. Lord Kelvin led me gently by the arm to a point from which the stream alluded to could be seen winding in beautiful curves through the grove called Kelvin. Pointing toward the river, his lordship, with quiet enthusiasm, remarked, 'I have lived and labored all my life on the banks of that stream, and why should I not call myself after it?'"

Weather Man Paid the Fine.

A group of young men, many of them officials in the government service, recently met in the smoking room of a Washington clubhouse. At the suggestion of one of the party it was agreed that the one first "talking shop" should be fined a dollar, but the evening passed and no fines had been imposed.

Mr. Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, overcoat on and hat in hand, arose at last to go.

"Good evening," said he.

"Hold on, there! A dollar, please!" shouted several in unison.

Mr. Moore straightened back as though he had been hit a blow, looked puzzled, then grinned and, without a word, fished out the dollar.—Saturday Evening Post.

The Book Saved His Life.

"Moved by excitement," began General Joe Wheeler in relating one of his stories, "a young man determined to enlist. He accepted a Bible from his mother and as he placed it in his inside coat pocket promised to read the book every day.

"During one of the important battles this man's entire company was annihilated, but he escaped."

"Same old story," interjected a veteran—"bullet hit the Bible."

"No," continued the doughty little general, "the book saved his life, but not in the common and accepted way. The soldier was found seated behind a tree, keeping his promise to his mother."—Washington Post.

Give Your Stomach a Rest.

Your food must be properly digested and assimilated to be of any value to you. If your stomach is weak or diseased take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach a rest, enabling it to recuperate, take on new life and grow strong again. Kodol cures sour stomach, gas, bloating, heart palpitation and all digestive disorders. J. A. Soper, of Little Rock, Ky., writes us: "We feel that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure deserves all the commendation that can be given it, as it saved the life of our little girl when she was three years old. She is now six and we have kept it for her constantly, but of course she only takes it now when anything disagrees with her." Sold by M. S. Crain.

Convincing Evidence.

Lawyer—Would you believe the sworn testimony of this man?
Witness—Certainly not, sir!
Lawyer—And why not?
Witness—Because, sir, that man hates to tell the truth. He always did. We were boys together, and he used to cry when the teacher made him say two and two made four.
Lawyer—Anything else?
Witness—Oh, yes. Once he was ill and described the symptoms so that the doctor prescribed for a sprained ankle when he was suffering from neuralgia in the head.
Lawyer—That will do. —Pearson's.

High Testimonial.

"Oh, mamma," exclaimed little Alice, rushing in from school, "Ethel Talbot has got the loveliest mother that ever was! She is such a beautiful mother! I do wish you could see her!"
"Tell me about her, Alice," said her mother. "Why is she so lovely?"
"Why," said Alice, "she lets Ethel say 'By golly' all she wants to!" —Somerville Journal.

Suspicious.

Miss Lighted—I was very much admired at the wedding ceremony last night. I noticed one gentleman who never took his eyes off me the whole evening.

Miss Sharpe—Did the gentleman have a black mustache, waxed on the ends?

"Yes. Do you know him?"
"I know of him. He is a detective. He was there to watch the presents."

A Touching Story

is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious Throat Trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At the Jackson Drug Co. 50c and $1.00 guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

A Record of Marvelous Accomplishment.

Established February 19, 1904, The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder, of Lexington, has, within a few months' time, become concededly the best weekly paper of its kind in America, and has secured a paid-in-advance circulation of over 13,000 copies.

Among the contributors to its columns on agricultural topics are many of the best-posted men in America. Mr. H. F. Hillenmyer, whose reputation as a nurseryman is national, conducts each week a department of answers to inquiries, in which he gives from his vast store of knowledge, experience and study, his views and advice on any subject pertaining to the orchard, lawn or garden, about which information may be desired. Every issue of The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder contains the most pertinent news and the most timely advice for farmers and stock raisers of every sort.

As a medium for all forms of farm and live stock advertising (for both of which it offers special discounts), it has no rival in the state. More than half its circulation is in Kentucky, and for the most part among people who are interested in and able to buy either farms or good stock.

By special arrangement we are able to offer for a limited time

THE KENTUCKY FARMER AND BREEDER

AND

THE BREATHITT COUNTY NEWS

BOTH FOR 1 YEAR AT $2.00

THE PRICE OF THE KENTUCKY FARMER AND BREEDER ALONE.

It is the most valuable weekly paper in America for the farmers of Kentucky to take. Published at Lexington, "the hub of the horse world," and the center of the state's agricultural interests, it has the opportunity to obtain, and it never fails to publish live, up-to-date, fresh news and valuable feature matter which no other paper contains.

Sample copies may be had on application at this office.

Not a Business Matter.

"Why do you wish to learn jiu jitsu? I can't see where it'll help you in your business."
"It's on my wife's account. She's so fussy. Whenever our cook has a bean who stays later than 12 o'clock at night I have to go down to the kitchen and order him to leave." —Chicago Record-Herald.

A Victim of Habit.

A new member of the fire department in Chicago after a week's service reported to the chief that he desired to resign in order to return to his old occupation of stoker on a lake steamer.

"Why," exclaimed the chief, "I thought you were perfectly satisfied with your job. I am surprised that you should wish to go back to your old position, which pays you less money than this."
"Well, chief," was the reply, "it isn't because I'm not satisfied with the place, but I figure it out that I wasn't intended to be a fireman. Every time we go out to fight a blaze I feel a strong temptation to whoop her up instead of throwing water on her. Early training's too much for me, chief."

In a Bad Way.

A Washington county (Mo.) editor writes: "One of our newly married young ladies kneads bread with her gloves on. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on. He needs it with his trousers on, and unless the delinquent readers of this old rag of freedom pay up soon we'll need bread without a darn thing on!"

The Dutch on the Congo.

The Dutch are the most accomplished colonizers in the world. There exists no finer monument to their genius than is contained in their picturesque settlement in the French Congo. If there were no heads of departments in Europe, they would be the paramount race in central Africa today.—London Today.

Paper Boat.

In Vienna a paper boat, sixteen feet long, has been built out of the back numbers of a leading daily paper of that city. Hull, spars and sails have all been made from the pulped brains of the literary staff. Four hundred thousand copies of this journal will make a yacht—sails and all.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of the great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 516 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were weak; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at The Jackson Drug Co.; price 50c.

Ways of Shoeing a Horse.

Complaint is made that the horse-shoers of England are behind those of continental Europe and that the perfect way of shoeing a horse is yet to be discovered, although it seems that there are 115 ways of shoeing a horse as practiced in the different armies in Europe.

The chief farrier of the Fourteenth dragons of the French army, A. M. Grosset, spent nearly the whole of his spare time in obtaining specimens in order to constitute illustrations of these methods. When he died a short time ago he presented the whole of his collection to the French ministry of war.—Blacksmith and Wheelwright.

Cows' Horns and Milk.

There is no doubt that a cow yields more milk after the removal or suppression of her horns. This was proved by Neumann, who saw four Dutch cows without horns give from thirty-six to thirty-eight pints of milk a day on poor pastures, while some of the same breed, but with horns, gave only twenty-four or thirty pints on good grazing land. This curious fact has been confirmed by American breeders, who have tried similar experiments.—London Mail.

Beads and a Census.

The recent census of the natives in the Transvaal was taken with beads. Each head man was furnished with a number of beads of different colors and twine on which to string them. A big black bead represented an adult married native, a big yellow bead a grown up single man, a big blue bead a married woman and a white bead a single woman over fifteen years old. A small yellow bead stood for a boy and a small white bead for a girl.

The Difference Defined.

Leslie Mortier Shaw, secretary of the treasury, was at luncheon in the Hamilton club of Chicago. The talk had turned to statesmen and politicians, when John M. Harlan said, "Mr. Secretary, what is the difference between a statesman and a politician?" Quick as thought came the answer, "It's the difference between the young man seeking a position and the boy looking for a job."

The Sunshine of Spring.

The Salve that cures without a scar is DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Cuts, Burns, Boils, Bruises and Piles disappear before the use of this salve as snow before the sunshine of spring. Miss H. M. Middleton, Tieton, Ill., says: "I was seriously afflicted with a fever sore that was very painful. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in less than a week." Get the genuine. Sold by M. S. Crain.
